

Digital Projects Coordinator

The Museum of the City of New York celebrates and interprets the city, educating the public about its distinctive character, especially its heritage of diversity, opportunity, and perpetual transformation. Founded in 1923 as a private, nonprofit corporation, the Museum connects the past, present, and future of New York City. It serves the people of New York and visitors from around the world through exhibitions, school and public programs, publications, and collections.

The Museum seeks a Digital Projects Coordinator to help with the expansion and awareness of the Museum of the City of New York's brand and digital footprint. The role is a researcher, storyteller, and project manager all in one, and will work with partners to build, implement and share the Museum's content in an accessible and engaging way within digital products (apps, podcasts, video series) and on the Museum's owned channels.

Roles and Responsibilities:

- Obtain copyright and image permission agreements as needed to display digital images on platforms such as Urban Archive, LinkNYC, Bloomberg Connects, and Google Art & Culture
- Research numerous Museum exhibition topics, including within exhibition background research and the Museum collection, working with collections team to identify important Museum items to highlight exhibitions and intellectual property
- Identify themes and write engaging copy for digital stories on partner platforms and/or the Museum's owned channels
- Curate accompanying images, video, and sound for each digital story (where applicable)
- Collaborate with partner development teams to build out stories within applications
- Research and identify new digital extensions for the Museum to consider

Qualifications:

- A current Marketing, Communications, History or Museum Studies Bachelor, Masters or PhD candidate
- An excellent grasp of technology would be an excellent fit
- Proven interest in storytelling and interpreting history for a general audience
- Experience working with digital products is highly desirable
- Superb written communication skills with experience writing in a pithy and engaging style
- Excellent verbal communication skills and ease with collaborating across multiple departments
- Strong project management skills with a high level of organization and attention to detail

BENEFITS

The position is part-time, temporary, and eligible for safe and sick leave, and Employee Assistance Program. Your employment relationship with the Museum qualifies you for free or discounted admissions to other participating cultural institutions.

WORKING CONDITIONS AND PHYSICAL REQUIREMENTS

The position will conduct work both onsite and remotely. Onsite work at the Museum's main building located at 1220 Fifth Avenue will take place between the Monday – Friday, 9-5 pm.

In accordance with NYC Executive Order 225 proof of COVID-19 vaccination is required. Reasonable accommodations may be made upon request in accordance with applicable federal, state, and local law.
